For GRAFLEX Back Insert the letter X in Cat. No.; e.g. SX-831; GRAFLEX Focusing Panel Included.

Although 6" approximates the diagonal of a 4 x 5 negative, many news photographers and other GRAPHIC users prefer the greater angular coverage and depth of field of 127 mm and 135 mm lenses (5" and 5 1/4") stopping down to make the corners sharp or ignoring the slight unsharpness at the corners at full aperture. The same is true of 11.5 cm (4 1/2") lenses on the 3 1/4 x 4 1/4 GRAPHIC Cameras.

Shutter Symbols: gxs—Graphex Shutter with built-in synchronization.

gxx—Graphex (X) Shutter.

A. Grafhex Synchronized Shutter

B. Supermatic "X" Shutter

C. Century Shutter

A. The synchronized shutters (gxs) (gss) are rim-set, cocking type shutters, providing a speed range from one to 1/400 sec. (1/200 in No. 3 shutter), including "T" and "B." Internal contacts and adjustments are provided for the type "X," type "F" and type "M" flash lamps. The GRAPHEX Synchro shutter (gxs) has a double "M" setting to provide optimum efficiency at the fast as well as the slow speeds with the type "M" flash lamps. An accessory solenoid may be fitted to the GRAPHEX shutter if desired.

B. The "X" shutters (gxx) (kxs) are rim-set, cocking type shutters providing a speed range from one to 1/400 sec. (1/200 in No. 3 shutter). Internal contacts are built-in to provide synchronization with the type "X" high speed electronic flash equipment. For synchronization with the type "M" flash lamps, an accessory solenoid should be used. This solenoid may also be used with the high speed electronic flash equipment operated by a built-in relay.

Type "X"
Type "F" (5 millisecond) — Gas Filled
Type "M" (20 millisecond) — Wire or Foil Filled
